Promoting Oral Health in Young Children

On October and November of 2016, started the training program offered by AFOMAC IAP, where medical specialists carried out a workshop about oral health in young children. The workshop was well-structured in 3 sessions with a duration of 2 hours each. 80 boys and girls from El Porvenir lodging house were benefited, 38 from Pantulis, 23 from Casa Blanca, 64 from Cafetal and 80 from Acapulco.

Oral diseases are the most usual and extended affections, specially in developed countries. The decay and periodontal diseases appear in childhood, and tends to increase in adulthood.

Its frequency increases progressively in our society largely due to the type of feeding (Abundant in refined sugars.) However, there is much we can do for our oral health, if we adopt from our childhood healthy habits about how to restrict the consumption of sugar based products and maintaining a correct dental hygiene. That is the best way to prevent the appearance of these diseases.

Child Care Accreditation Certificates

On September 14th, 2016, childcare staff from the Acapulco, Cafetal and El Porvenir day care centers, initiated an online course developed by the Carlos Slim foundation, about child care.

The constant training of our childcare staff, allows to reinforce their knowledge and to highlight the responsibility involved in such delicate task, as it is the child care.

Once all the training sessions were concluded, our childcare staff obtained an accreditation certificate backed by Intelmex S.C.

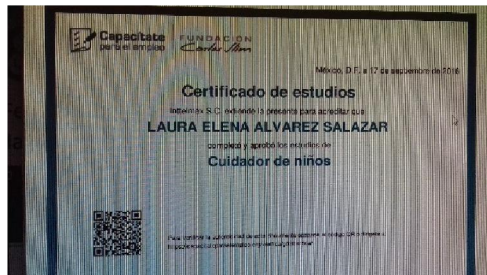

Through these type of trainings, we can assure that our worker's children will be well taken care of, by responsible childcare staff whom will accompany them in their physical, emotional, and social development, safeguarding their rights at all times.

This was the first online course carried out in the multipurpose room Gracia C. de Cárdenas, inaugurated last season in El Porvenir lodging house.

TIPS

- Remember that all things have a solution.
- See in each difficulty an opportunity to learn.
- Discard all negative thinking.
- Help others.
- Remember that failure does not exist.
